Dear Friends,

We look forward to a shared day of memory. We have all experienced loss: loss of loved ones, loss of dreams, and loss of “the way things were.” Rabbi Yael Levy will guide us, in community, to a wellspring of peace where we can nurture memory and make sense of change. At The Red Shoes, we also want to create positive change, individually, and in the world. We have some exciting new facilitators coming to The Red Shoes and some old friends. Discover new ways to enrich your days, ignite your spirit and illuminate new perspectives. Find your way to bring light and healing into the world.

Wendy Herschman, executive director

The Red Shoes is a women’s center for personal and spiritual growth.
Our commitment is to value and support all women on their life’s journey.
We celebrate, empower and nurture women.
We offer space for women to explore and develop their inner life.
We connect creativity, spirituality and authenticity.
We provide a place of healing and reconciliation.
We focus on what we hold in common rather than what divides us.

Memory: Creating a Sacred Space Within

Welcoming Rabbi Yael Levy
Founder and Rabbinic Director of A Way In Sunday, February 26 – 2 - 4 pm

Many of us have experienced loss in the past few years and the pandemic stripped away a sense of community and many of our rituals. Together, we will pause to remember and to touch into the sacred space where we store all that we love.

It will soon be a year...

Susan Lambert
February 13, 1949 – February 14, 2022
Susan was a beloved and active member of our Circle of Leadership and participated in and led a variety of other circles.

We are welcoming one of Susan’s favorite teachers, “that lady rabbi,” Rabbi Yael Levy, named as one of “America’s Most Inspiring Rabbis.” As the founder and rabbinic director of A Way In, Rabbi Yael’s teachings offer “a way in” to spiritual practice. We will explore together:
• How do we tend and care for the sacred, vulnerable and preciousness of life?
• How can we keep Susan’s memory and her inspirational spirit alive? How can we do this for all the dear ones we hold in our hearts?
• How do we sanctify life and raise up love in the midst of confusion and loss?

Rabbi Yael will use Text study and Psalms, woven together with meditation and creative response, to create a sacred path leading us to our inner space of healing, holiness & wholeness.

After our inspiring program, we will create a memory circle for sharing in community, followed by a reception.

Also Remembered in The Red Shoes Community:

Michael Guillory
Dec 21, 1961- April 22, 2020
Michael, beloved son of our founder, Roberta and Jay Guillory, part of the inspiration for the founding of The Red Shoes.

Pat Godfrey
Sept 12, 1939 - Oct 7, 2020
Pat taught for many years at The Red Shoes and, most notably, led The Tuesday Morning Group.

Suggested Memorial Donation to honor loved ones and as an honorarium for our special guest spiritual leader.

Book Study: Do I Stay Christian?
Tuesdays Mar 7–Apr 25 10:30 am-12 noon
“. . . might we, far from being disloyal heretics, actually have the opportunity to become the evolutionary descendants of Jesus who are called to carry on his radically progressive vision in our brief time on this earth?”

Join Kerri D’Amico, for a thought-provoking study of Brian McLaren’s Do I Stay Christian? The author poses hard questions and urges the reader to confront some troubling problems. Together, we will face all aspects of Christianity: spiritual, economic and ethical, through an investigative lens “with eyes and heart wide open.” Bring your conscience and leave your assumptions at the door. Take a look at what lies beyond the Christianity of yesterday and today.

Facilitated by Kerri D’Amico, a student of Richard Rohr’s Living School for Action and Contemplation

Play & Talk Back: The Road to Damascus: (As Told by Grandmother to Little Red)
Saturday March 11 6-9pm
ArtSpot Productions presents: A performance examining the role the church in America has played in creating and uplifting a criminal legal system that inequitably punishes and destroys the lives of Black citizens and their families, especially here in Louisiana.

In The Road to Damascus (as told by Grandmother to Little Red), a Grandmother, who is incarcerated, weaves together a tale for her granddaughter to illuminate the persecutio nal nature of the system they live in. This exposes the complexity of the perpetrator/victim/savior dynamic. At a time when Christianity is increasingly polarized, we look at Christ’s deepest teachings to examine the role we play in crime and punishment, harm and healing. Witness this “Damascus experience”—and perhaps share your own. Deepen the conversation identifying the harm that has led to our current, dysfunctional legal system and uncover ways to repair and end that harm.

Talk Back discussion with writer and director following a short break after this solo performance.

Created, written and performed by Kathy Randels; directed and co-created with Odile Del Giudice. The piece is drawn from Randels’ upbringing as the offspring of two generations of Southern Baptist preachers and teaching theater to and learning from currently and formerly incarcerated women at Louisiana Correctional Institute for Women for 24 years. Randels weaves together a tale for her granddaughter to address the role the church in America has played in creating collective trauma.

Wandering Monk: Healing, Music & Meditation
Saturday & Sunday March 25 & 26
Ten years ago, Brian renounced his worldly life and set out on the road to share the mystical path to Self-Realization. As a “wandering monk,” he has held hundreds of gatherings at spiritual centers, churches and yoga studios all over the country. Brian speaks about the nature of Truth and Love. While playing the Harmonium, he holds a transformative space to bring the mind into deeper states of meditation.
Saturday 2-3:30 pm  Healing the Body and Senses
In our time together, we will energetically divinize the body and senses. When the body is transformed into light, meditation becomes easier because the mind is not focused on the physical reality. This healing session may be helpful in clearing the deeper cause of pain, suffering and disease. Mantra helps to clear the subconscious karma that keeps an ailment in place.
Sunday 1-2:30 pm  Magical Mantra, Mudra, and Breath
Awaken to all. We will explore simple spiritual practices for accessing higher states of consciousness and empowering our meditations. Experience mantras with energy that activates latent powers of healing and virtue. Learn Mudras, hand positions, that clearenergy channels. Breathe into this magical moment of now.
Facilitated by Brian Lottman, a “wandering monk” who travels the U.S., sharing healing energy for spiritual awakening. He is an inspirational speaker and a meditation teacher.
Suggested Minimum Donation each $20

Nat Geo Live: On the Trail of Big Cats with Steve Winter - Manship Theatre Partnership
Wednesday March 22 7:30 pm
Many big cats are in danger of extinction. Wildlife photographer Steve Winter shares his experience documenting threatened big cat species around the world and he learns, that by saving them, we can save ourselves. Endangered, wild and unpredictable, caution is required in the presence of these felines, and negotiating their habitats can be dangerous. From India’s Himalayas in search of rare snow leopards to Latin American jungles stalking the elusive jaguar, award-winning photographer Steve Winter’s mission is to share the beauty of big cats and work to save them.

The Red Shoes Story
Saturday April 1 10 am–3pm
Our organization’s name comes from Jungian analyst Clarissa Pinkola Estes’ interpretation of the classic fairy tale The Red Shoes where she speaks of the need for every woman to find the shoes that uniquely fit her feet, rather than wearing ill-fitting shoes in an effort to please someone else. Time and time again we are led away from our soul’s purpose in our attempt to please and seek outside validation. Using the text from Women Who Run With the Wolves and a variety of written prompts, creative exercises and guided meditation, we will spend the day seeking the “Feral Woman” within and work through the “Traps” in our own lives that hold us back.

Facilitated by Robin Palmer Blanche. In addition to publishing 12 novels and being a produced screenwriter, Robin is an INELDA-trained end-of-life doula and legacy memoirist. Her website is youwereheredoula.com.

Forgiving Ourselves: A Shamantic Lens with Cecile Carson
Saturday & Sunday April 22 & 23 10 am-5 pm
Explore forgiveness beyond its emotional dimension into the spiritual realm. Our shamonic heritage provides methods to transcend the conflict and duality inherent in ordinary reality. Through shamonic journeying and ritual, we’ll receive the gift of compassion from the spirits to help us release old patterns that limit our ability to be fully who we are. We will work with forgiveness as an energy that neutralizes the charge attached to a person or event from the debt that is allegedly owed. We’ll work with shamonic concepts of “shape-shifting” and “energy fields of influence” to empower a radical transformation in forgiving ourselves and others, leading us to remember we are part of the great web of connection.

Please bring a drum or rattle if you have one, a blanket and a notebook.

Facilitated by Cecile Carson, MD, who taught for many years at the University of Rochester Medical Center. She is an international shamonic teacher, practitioner and a Founding Board Member of the Society for Shamonic Practice.
